

Audiobooks Fight Crime in Miami

By Adam Boretz -- November 9, 2011

It recently came to my attention that the Halloween Episode of CSI: Miami featured the Crime-Fighting Power of Audiobooks!

Evidently, the episode — titled “By The Book” — involved all the usual surf, sun, murder, police work, and magical crime-fighting technology, but also featured a character who’d written a famous vampire series. And the audio versions of one of her books contained a clue crucial to the solving of the case.

According to Kaitlin Friedmann, public relations manager at the Audio Publishers Association, APA member Karen White, provided the narration for the fictional book and recorded it in her home studio.

Check out THIS LINK to watch the episode. You can skip to minute 31 to watch the discovery of the audiobook clue.

<http://blogs.publishersweekly.com/blogs/ListenUp/?p=1615>